

Kadima Digest #7

The Final Countdown

There is just one month left in the active portion of the Kadima campaign. As was heralded in the update letter that you should have received by now (You did open it and read it, right?), we are thrilled to report that the campaign has reached nearly 90% of its $6.2 million goal. We are so close, and by attaining our 100% participation goal, we will surely hit our financial target. For some that means making an initial gift to the Kadima Campaign, for others it could mean adding an additional installment to one's original pledge. Every gift is important, no matter the amount. Please respond to our Kadima Champion volunteers when you get a call or email, and please consider donating. Any amount will move us closer to our goal, and your participation will strengthen the bonds of our community. Now is the time!
